FORT STREET IMPROVEMENTS ABANDONED.

The Minister of the Interior Will Request the Next Legislature for an Appropriation to Finish the Work.

It was announced at the Interior Department that the matter of Fort street improvements will necessarily have to lie over until the next session of the Legislature.

The appropriation made to carry out the widening of this street has been exhausted and the Minister of the Interior will request more funds.

Two sections of Fort street, from King to Hotel, and from Hotel to Beretania streets, are not as wide as the regulation thoroughfares. The department has accomplished considerable already in the way of satisfying the claims of those people whose property was affected by the widening of the street. Land has been given in exchange for the road damages wherever possible.

On the Ewa side of Fort street, between King and Hotel, every claim has been settled save that of the Old Fellows' Society, which owns the brick building on the corner. James Campbell has erected his new block back on the new street line. The Wickham building and Tregloan block were originally built on the proper line.

On the Waikiki side of the streets, the Government has yet to satisfy the claims of the owners of the McIntyre building, the block in which Jordan's store is located and the May building. From Egan's store to the corner of Hotel street the street line is now properly adjusted.

Between Hotel and Beretania streets the Mott-Smith building on the Waikiki side, has been set back to the new line. The claims of Mr. Fisher, who owns the property where Poppleton's bakery is located, and the Clark property have been satisfied. The building in which are located the Criterion saloon, Criterion barber shop, Wright's blacksmith establishment, the Catholic cathedral and the Bishop estate, has yet to be adjusted on this side of the street.

On the Ewa side the Pantheon saloon premises and Widemann property must yet be attended to. The Government has affected a compromise with the Cartwright and Douglas properties.

AT DEATH'S SUDDEN CALL

BRITISH COMMISSIONER HAWES DIES IN HILO.

Career of the Commissioner—Organized the Japanese Marine Force—His Duties in Central Africa.

Captain Albert George Sidney Hawes, British Commissioner to Hawaii, died in Hilo at 12:30 o'clock Friday morning from a carbuncle.

The Kinau arrived with the body shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon. British Vice Consul Thomas Rain Walker, Charles Gay and Miss Elise Gay of Kauai were on board.

A large number of people, friends of the deceased, were gathered on the wharf when the steamer docked. A guard from the Hawaiian Government and from the British ship Penguin bore the remains to the British consulate at Palama, where they will probably lie in state.

British Vice Consul Walker announced to the press shortly after the arrival of the boat that the funeral would be held either Monday or Tuesday, and in all probability on the afternoon of the latter day. Although the slightest details for the funeral arrangements have not been made, it is thought that the late Commissioner will be buried with military honors. The First Regiment may march in the funeral cortege.

BRITISH COMMISSIONER A. G. S. HAWES.

Commissioner Hawes departed from Honolulu on the Kinau sailing on July 9th. He was on a tour of Hawaii and Maui and more particularly the coffee plantations in Kona and Puna on the big island.

On the trip to Hilo, Commissioner Hawes was badly bruised up as a result of a fall in the captain's cabin of the boat. There was a rough choppy sea on and the Kinau rolled and pitched violently. On this occasion the Commissioner narrowly escaped being thrown overboard, but was saved by the timely assistance of Admiral Beardslee.

Upon arrival at Hilo Commissioner Hawes was compelled to lie in bed until his bruises healed. He was taken to Waiakae, where he was at the time of his death.

Very soon after his confinement at Waiakae a bad case of carbuncle broke out on his neck. It gave him intense suffering and two weeks ago last evening the attending physicians entertained no hopes for his recovery.

He rallied the morning following however, and had been slowly convalescing since that time up to sudden change shortly previous to his death. Each steamer from Hilo brought encouraging news of his condition, and the last report previous to that of his demise stated that while he was not recovering as fast as his friends would like to note, still he was surely on the mend. He had been in less pain than for several days past.

Vice Consul Walker took passage on the Kinau last week for Hilo. Miss Elise Gay, to whom Commissioner Hawes was engaged to be married in September, and her brother, Charles Gay, arrived from Kauai in time to board this boat.

Since his confinement the Commissioner has been very tenderly cared for by Mrs. George and Mrs. McGregor Deacon of Pepeekeo.

Mr. Hawes was born in England over fifty years ago. He entered the Royal Marines in December of 1839 and retired ten years later.

In 1871 Mr. Hawes was appointed by the Japanese Government to organize the marine force of their navy, and for thirteen years he took charge of this department, and to his excellent work is due the efficiency of Japanese marine corps at the present time. During his stay in Japan Mr. Hawes was very prominent in society of Tokyo and his parties attained much celebrity, especially when he fared for his "rose festival," when his gardens blossomed with the gorgeous blooms, which had been fostered and some times retarded in order that all should blaze forth on the day. The "rose festival" was a feature of Tokyo society.

Leaving Japan in January, 1884, Mr.

Hawes returned to England and after a short rest was appointed Consul for the territories of the African kings and chiefs in the districts adjacent to Lake Nyassa, January, 1885. In fulfilling his duties, Mr. Hawes had to undergo considerable hardships and contracted African fever, which never left his system, and from which he periodically suffered to the end of his life. While in Africa he proved himself to be a keen sportsman and had a fund of anecdotes about hairbreadth escapes by flood and field. His rooms were decorated with many trophies of the chase.

So well did he do his work in the interior that Mr. Hawes was detached for special duty at Zanzibar from December 30, 1888, to June, 1889. The duty was in connection with suppressing the slave trade and the position an extremely responsible one, as the whole of the East African seaboard was under his direct orders. Having completed the work Mr. Hawes was appointed Consul for the Society Islands, October 1, 1889, a position he filled with much satisfaction to his countrymen in the South Seas, and on the retirement of James Hay Wodehouse he was appointed Commissioner and Consul General to these islands. He arrived here in August of 1894.

Recent additions to Lahaina society are Mr. Jack Gannon, Mrs. Gannon and Miss Gannon. Miss Ward and Miss Ostrom of Kohala are also visiting for a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Rosecrans at Lahainaluna.

Mr. Dickenson, who is now camping out on historic ground—Mt. Retreat—2000 feet above sea level, advises seekers after delightful air and plenty of it to visit him at his retreat. All welcome and always at home. Captain Ahlborn proposes building a driveway there soon, but don't wait for that.

CHINESE ATTEMPTS SUICIDE.

Cheung Wo, a Chinese who is booked to sail on the next steamer for China, was found in an alley off Maunakea street early this morning with his throat cut, and may die. From the evidence in the hands of the police it is believed that he lost his money gambling and attempted suicide while suffering from despondency.

It is always gratifying to receive testimonials for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy, and when the endorsement is from a physician it is especially so. "There is no more satisfactory or effective remedy than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes Dr. R. E. Robey, physician and pharmacist, of Olney, Mo., and as he has used the Remedy in his own family and sold it in his drug store for six years, he should certainly know. PATROLMEN UNDER ARREST

FOUR OF CAPTAIN RENKIN'S MEN IN JAIL.

Interrupted in a Drunken Revel, They Unmercifully Beat Two Natives—A Serious Affair.

Mounted Patrolman Gillis, Hewitt, Conley and Jim Cornwall are behind the bars at the City Prison with charges against them of such a serious nature that a sojourn on the reef is in prospect for the entire quartet. According to the information now possessed by Marshal Brown, Gillis and his comrades after going on duty last night repaired to a house on Punchbowl street where they met several native women and started in on an all-night revel. Two natives, Kekaha and Kukalahewa, relatives of the women, entered the place about 2 o'clock this morning, and objected to the sports. They were set upon by the officers, beaten unmercifully and finally placed under arrest and taken to the police station.

Hewitt and Conley took the men to the station and preferred charges of assault and battery against them. The officers were clearly under the influence of liquor and the natives so badly beaten about the head that the captain of the watch grew suspicious and telephoned for Captain Parker. While they were waiting for the senior captain the women with whom the patrolmen had been drinking entered the station and told the whole story. Captain Parker on his arrival found the natives so seriously injured that he summoned Dr. Emerson, who dressed the wounds temporarily and sent the men to the hospital.

Marshal Brown, after a brief investigation of the matter, decided to place the patrolmen under arrest. They were ordered to appear before him at 9 o'clock this morning, and on arriving at the station were promptly placed under arrest on charges of assault and battery on Kekaha and Kukalahewa. Each man was relieved of his star and locked up in a separate cell.

The Marshal is exceedingly angry over the affair. Some of the officers under arrest have been in trouble before, notably Gillis. Hewitt and Conley have been on the force about two years, but Cornwall and Gillis only a few months. The men went on duty at 9 o'clock last night. As nearly as the Marshal can learn they met at the Punchbowl-street house about 10 a. m., when the trouble occurred. After the natives had been beaten the patrolmen realized the predicament they were in, and arrested the men to cover up their tracks, telling a cock and bull story about being set upon by the natives and finding it necessary to use their clubs in self defense.

The natives are in the hospital, suffering from several severe scalp wounds and contusions. It is stated that one of the patrolmen broke his club over the head of one of the natives and then jabbed the poor fellow with the broken, razed stick. At noon Hewitt, Gillis and Cornwall had been admitted to bail in the sum of $100 each, but Conley still lingered in durance vile.

THE MILK THIEVES.

Captain Bowers of the Merchant's Patrol is discomfited over the dismissal in the Police Court of larceny charges against Joseph Solon, a sailor, and a blue jacket from the Penguin by the name of Thornton, whom he accused of stealing milk. The Captain has been trying to put a stop to milk thieving, but if people from whom the cans are stolen refuse to prosecute, the Captain does not see his way clear to breaking up the practice. As the can was the property of a saloon keeper, he thought it might injure his business to prosecute, so he refused to carry on the case.

RECEIVING CONSIDERATION NOW.

Attorney A. G. M. Robertson closed his arguments before the Supreme Court late yesterday afternoon in support of the Government's position on the income tax law. The cases have been submitted to the Court for determination.

"WHEELER & WILSON."

The name "Wheeler & Wilson" is a household word and the machine a necessity. It is the same as everything else handled by L. B. Kerr. The best to be had.

MURDEROUS CELESTIALS

GANG OF CHINESE HACK AND STONE THEIR LUNA.

Luna Thrown Into a Ditch As Dead—Rescued by Japanese Long After—Five Arrests Made Already.

By the Mikahala this morning came the news of a heathenish attack by Chinese laborers upon a luna employed on the Lahaina plantation.

The news is of the briefest and is sent from Lahaina by the Star's correspondent. He says:

"One of the lunas on the plantation was mobbed by his Chinese gang at Kannapali yesterday. After splitting his head open with hoes and threw him into a ditch as dead.

"There was a spark of life left and a Japanese found him and carried him off the field some time after. The poor fellow is still alive, but very low, and his chances are very slight for recovery. Five Chinamen are in jail as the result of this heathenish attack."

The name of the unfortunate luna is not known. Marshal Brown received no word of the affair by the Mikahala. His mail is on the Kinan, due this afternoon. The full particulars are expected by this boat.

CYCLOMERE AWA.

At Cyclomere Park this morning a thirty-foot net was dropped into the lake for the purpose of dragging it for fish. In the space of about ten minutes nearly one hundred awas and mullet, averaging ten inches long, were ensnared in the net without being moved from the original position.

THE BIG BAND CONCERT.

The attendance at the band concert at the Hawaiian Hotel last evening was quite large. The amalgamation of the Philadelphia and Hawaiian bands made over forty pieces under one organization.

The music was in perfect harmony. Bandmaster Grosskurz of the Navy led the first part. Ivanovici's Danube Waves and the Sweet Old Songs were warmly applauded. In the second part led by Bandmaster Berger, Sousa's International Congress was executed.

THE OLD LIME KILN.

Katie Putnam and her company will play "The Old Lime Kiln" this evening. This new play is in four acts. It is intensely interesting, and has a number of highly sensational incidents, with unusually strong climaxes at the end of each act. There is new scenery, showing the old lime kiln, Yellowstone Park, a perfectly working geyser and other realistic scenes. Miss Putnam has an excellent chance to display her versatility.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy always affords prompt relief. For sale by all druggists and dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands.
